

It's About Inspiration.

Offering you a set of ukulele strings is more than consulting a chart and choosing gauges. It's more than bold marketing claims.

It's about selecting the best materials, based on their unique tonal properties, and spending countless hours with handfuls of ukuleles, stringing them up, playing and listening. It's about talking to players and builders, listening to their needs, consulting with them on proper feel and tension for their particular instrument.

And did we mention a lot of playing time?

Because in the end, it's about finding the right set that will bring your ukulele to life and inspire you to play more.

ghs strings

